Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport presented Air Cargo Excellence Award

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: March 4, 2008

(ANCHORAGE, Alaska)— The Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport (ANC) was presented the 2008 Air Cargo Award of Excellence for the airport category of 1,000,000 or more tons by Air Cargo World.

The Air Cargo Excellence survey is a result of quantitative feedback from Anchorage's cargo customer base of airlines and airfreight forwarders who ship to or through Anchorage. The award is earned by achieving superior ratings from customers in four key areas of measurement: performance, value, facilities and regulatory operations.

Airport Director Morton V. Plumb Jr. is extremely pleased that the airport has been recognized again for excellence in service having been previously recognized in 2005, 2006 and 2007.

“This is a testament to the professional, dedicated team and facilities here at Anchorage,” said Plumb. “And it contributes to our competitive advantage for international air cargo business.”

ANC is the number 1 airport in the U.S. for landed weight of cargo aircraft and number 3 in the world for cargo throughput.

Air Cargo World is an industry trade magazine focusing on the airline cargo industry. For more information regarding this distinction contact Air Cargo World Publisher, Steve Prince at 770-642-9170 or visit www.aircargoworld.co.
