

Safe Routes to School

COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE

The Safe Routes to School Community of Practice will be a statewide network of professionals and partners dedicated to improving the safety, accessibility, and health of students traveling to and from school in rural and urban communities in Alaska.

Safe Routes to School helps children walk and bike to school more safely and easily, be more active, build confidence and independence, and stay connected to their communities.

Why join?

When you join, you can:

- Learn from each other across Alaska
- Share ideas and successful projects
- Find tools and helpful resources
- Hear about funding opportunities

Who can join?

Anyone interested in safer school travel is welcome, including:

- State & local government staff
- Planners and engineers
- Nonprofit & community organizations
- School Staff
- Tribal governments
- Law enforcement
- Parents and advocates

What will we talk about?

Topics may include:

- School traffic safety
- Winter travel
- Community partnerships
- Rural & Tribal transportation
- Walking, biking, and rolling to school
- Transportation planning
- Accessibility
- Funding and grants

Alaska Safe Routes to School
Community of Practice
Interest Form

Contact Us!

Julius Adolfsson, Alaska DOT&PF
julius.adolfsson@alaska.gov

Dr. Jess Doherty, Alaska DOH
jessie.doherty@alaska.gov

