

TRAIN-THE-TRAINER

PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED

If you have an internal safety or training department and wish to conduct your training in-house, we will teach people you select from within your organization to instruct Smith System on-road techniques to your drivers.

Whether you operate small vehicles, trucks or buses, we understand your problems and can build a training program around your specific needs. Our instructors have studied and understand the perceptual behavior patterns of drivers. They know how to instill that knowledge in your driver trainers. Once your instructors are certified, they will have the skills to bring our proven traffic collision prevention concepts to your fleet drivers. And they will be able to deliver the information in a way that is positive, interesting and very compelling.

Your instructor trainees will learn to:

- Verbally outline Smith System principles.
- Watch drivers for the physical and perceptual errors that lead to collisions.
- Coach students as they operate the vehicle, accelerating learning tremendously.
- Evaluate students, in written form as they drive.
- Educate their students about the art of backing a vehicle safely.
